Washington.—This revision by the coming congress has become virtually a certainty over the heads of the candidates for the candidacy of Senator Hiram Johnson for the republican presidential nomination.

While emphasizing for the moment foreign issues, is to be followed by a demand for a reduction in the tax burdens of the American people.

William G. McAdoo's approval of a statement by his pre-election management that he would be a candidate for the democratic presidential nomination and the assertion by Mr. McAdoo himself that not only candidates for the national, but a soldier bonus paid, too, has made it certain that the primary issue of the immediately future will be taxation.

Another prominent democrat whose name is being mentioned as a pos-asked what would be the issue of the next campaign. He answered:

"If the republicans do not revise the taxes we will make Secretary Mc-

Adoo's figures and statements the basis

Kansas Man Accepts Call—To Take Charge Here
Jan. 1.

Acceptance of the call to the pastor of the First Baptist church of Janesville was received by Rev. J. E. MacMullen from the Rev. R. L. A. McMillan, Manhattan, Kan., by J. T. Pitchett, cleric of the church. The message will be conveyed to the congregation at the services on Sunday.

The Rev. Mr. MacMullen will come here Jan. 1 to assume the place left vacant by the Rev. E. G. Pierson, who was called three weeks ago to Doremont, Pa. The pastorate in the interim will be filled by the Rev. Henry Clarke of Rockford.

Letter of Acceptance.

Mr. MacMullen's letter of acceptance.

Your letter received and also the telegram from Mr. Cunningham. I appreciate the confidence placed in me by the church in extending this unusual call. After carefully and prayerfully considered the whole situation, I have decided to accept the call, and do so with the same confidence in the church that it has placed in me.

Coming in January.

I have met with my board of promotion, which is representative of all the church, and will formally accept the call on Sunday morning. The board, however, will meet to stay until the end of the year, thus giving them time to make arrangements for the future. Therefore I plan to be with you the first Sunday in January, 1924. I am hoping that my good friend, Henry Clarke, will be able to remain with us until we have a church which will assure me that the work of the church will suffer no handicap by my delay in coming. With the sincerest expression of good will to the church and the keenest anticipation of a happy work, I am yours in the Master's cause."

A new pension association for the employees being formed. It will go into effect Jan. 1, and employees must join before that date. All rights have been defined by a committee of employees and are very liberal. Dues depend on the age of the person joining.

Due are 16 cents a month and a contribution to total approximately $1.65 a month will entitle the employee to $25 a month. No pension is available if he is retired by reason of old age. Plans for a larger pension will be developed later on.

HAGER ASKS MONEY FOR SCHOOL JOB

Julius Hager, Janesville, is the plaintiff in a suit for $2,000 against W. P. Langdon as surviving partner of Hayes & Langdon and the Fidelity Deposit company of Baltimore, Md., as the result of doing the Bedford stone work on the Kaubau high school.

The plaintiff alleges that the Hayes & Langdon firm secured the contract for the Bedford high school at a figure of $45,000 and that the contract for the Bedford stone work was awarded to Hager for $8,400 and only $5,400 has been paid, leaving $3,000 unpaid balance.

The Fidelity and Deposit company is made a defendant as their bond for $75,000 covered the contracts on the job.

Will Your Gas Range Do This?

LET'S pretend it's Thanksgiving Day. The family is going to the matinee, and friends are coming for six o'clock dinner. It's the maid's day off. What will you do? "Why there's only one answer," you say, "stay home and cook the dinner." And your answer is quite correct, unless you own a Clark Jewel Gas Range equipped with the

LORAIN OVEN HEAT REGULATOR

You see, women who own Lorain-equipped Gas Ranges can cook a Whole Meal—soup, vegetables, meat and dessert—in the oven at one time. While the meal is cooking they can go to the matinee, football game, visiting, or do other work about the house for three, four or five hours.

If you can't do these things with your gas range you should be willing to make most any sacrifice to buy one equipped with the Lorain Oven Heat Regulator, which makes all these things

Watson Symphony Is Benefit for War Memorial

Rich and beautiful as an entertainment, say critics who have seen the music picture symphony, "The Moor," which Dudley Crafts Watson, Chicago, will present at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Tuesday night, in aid of the Art League and for the benefit of the soldiers' memorial funds.

The lantern slide is said to tell the story and the finest colored slides ever made, critics say, and represent perfect reproductions of the most famous paintings in the world, relative to the dominion of the Moor in Spain. In this particular symphony, a number of architectural photographs are used, being of the beautiful buildings of the Alhambra and the Mosque of Cordova.

Of the music, which expresses the moods of the symphony, selections have been taken from Moszkowski's "Practorius," Kroeger, Albeniz, Holst and Roeder. Miss Grace Murphy will be the pianist.

Members of the Art League are disposing of the tickets with Mrs. H. D. Murdoch as chairman of the committee. All proceeds over expenses are to be turned over to the Soldier's Memorial fund.

ENTENTE COLLAPSE FEARED AS ITALY, BRITAIN CALL HALT

observers here are not so optimistic over Franco-British relations. In these quiet days it is feared that the talk of a double fight by the British refusal to participate in the further embarrassment of Germany, will ultimately mean the collapse of the entente cordiale which several times has hung together by a thread.

One suggestion for forcing France into line with the British viewpoint is that she should agree to pay the debt she owes this country.

MONDAY TO SEE FINAL EFFORT TO SAVE ENTENTE

(By Associated Press)
Paris.—The final effort to save the entente from dislocation probably will be put over Monday.

The British cabinet secretary is not likely to give the final word to Lord Crewe, the British ambassador here, as to its position on the application of further penalties on Germany.

The efforts which will be made meanwhile to prevent a break are reported to include a flight here as departing the French and British governments being too far apart, it is thought, to make an agreement possible.

FRENCH MAY MODIFY ATTITUDE ON PENALTIES

London.—Strong efforts are being made over the heads of both sides of the channel to preserve the integrity of the Franco-British alliance. There were indications at the foreign office today that France was changing her attitude as to some of her threatened penalties against Germany in the event of failure to give up the ex-crown prince and permit the interalleled military control to resume its interrupted invasion of Germany.

Legion Grateful for Armistice Day Observance

An expression of appreciation to all those who assisted in making the Armistice day observance here a success is made in a resolution sent by the Richard Ellis Janesville post of the American Legion to the Chamber of Commerce. The Chamber directed the plans for the first community observance of the day since the Armistice was signed in 1918.

What was the first community observance of Armistice day in the city of Janesville was held on Nov. 11, 1922, at the high school, and the city of Janesville, under the auspices of the Chamber of Commerce, tendered a community observance to all veterans and the Civil, Spanish-American, and World wars at the high school cafeteria at 6 p. m.

Resolved, by Richard Ellis post of the American Legion, in regular meeting assembled, that we express our sincere appreciation to the Chamber of Commerce, especially to the Chamber of Commerce, the churches, lodges, and women's patriotic organizations, and members of the Elmer City band, for their good will and interest in the ex-service men, and the women, and the American observance was held and that this resolution be spread upon the records of this post.

Widen Entrance to Admit Sweeper

Workmen started on the job Saturday of enlarging the entrance to the city's garage in the rear of the city hall. The door must be widened so that the big motor sweeper may be driven into the building and swept into the garage. The entrance is now being used daily in the downtown district, operating from 2 a. m. until the business section has been cleaned. Wherever 16 loads of dirt was picked up the first day it was used downtown, the gathering now averages only one load a day, indicating that the city is considerably cleaner.

The Governor Was Right.

It must be said that the governor of the state of Wisconsin displayed more than his usual judgment when he refused to disobey the law of the state and therefore canceled his date in Janesville at the high school auditorium. There were no restrictions on the governor more than the law of the state places on any one, governor or lackey. There can be no possible objection to the governor making one or a dozen political speeches in Janesville or anywhere else he may choose, so long as it is in a place where such speeches are legal. The right is inalienable.

The Gazette, Thursday, stated the case—that the governor could not talk on taxation without being political. He has personal reasons for being sore on taxation measures. His own pet bill was slaughtered by members of his own faction—or a faction which had permitted him to go on its ticket and then refused to follow his leadership.

When the school board, exercising its power as guardians of the rights and interests of the people, said there would not be objection to the Eagles Lodge of this city having the high school auditorium for a non-political affair, the governor was honest enough to inform them that he could not comply with the legal restrictions which the statutes clearly set up. He must be given full credit for his honesty. The Eagles are members of a live lodge in Janesville. They are citizens of the city, part owners of the high school and were entitled to every consideration in their request for the use of the auditorium when the school board acted upon it.

Now that this is settled we can go and hear the governor exalt his own tax scheme and his own tax bill, give the "traitorous members" of the legislature, who refused to follow him, and the others who are uncertain or unbelievers in the governor's tax policy, the newspapers and others, all the merry ladies that will go to make a pleasant evening. As they used to say of Ludwig, the mad king of Bavaria, "He is after all our king." Mr. Blaine is still governor of our state.

Over in Germany, America may help the poor; the rich help themselves.

Disabled Veterans First

Col. Forbes has denied everything in reference to the charges made against him in the Veterans Bureau case. He calls Dr. Sawyer severely to task as a "meddler" and as having a hand or wanting to take a hand in everything that was done, carrying his story to the president and not always being careful about the truth. Censure and reprimand have followed fast in the investigation of the Bureau. Between the two diverging lines drawn by the witnesses who have testified against Col. Forbes, charging bribery and other serious crimes, and the testimony of Forbes denying all charges in toto, there is one conclusion drawn by the public—that there was far too much of politics and favoritism in administration and letting of contracts as well as appointments of persons to take and carry the burden of the work imposed. This conclusion, that there was a condition of inefficiency in management, in handling this most sacred branch of governmental business, demands no judicial or yet a prejudiced mind in order to be reached. The public is not directly interested in the feud between Forbes and Sawyer. The public is aware of, and probably has not forgotten, the attempt of the doctor to unite several of the bureaus of the government into one department, with himself as a cabinet head of the medical branch having the Veterans Bureau as a section of his department. The country is interested in seeing Col. Forbes clean his skirts and with that give some recommendation for purging the Veterans Bureau of the mal-administration which has been its chief characteristic since it was established.

But the committee has a greater task than acting as superintendents of a laundry for washing dirty linen; it was appointed to devise plans for a real service to the disabled soldiers of the nation. What has been done has been done and it cannot be changed now. Gross neglect, political disturbances of administration, graft, and all that has been passed upon. Eventually the courts should be appealed to for punishment of the miscreants. But now what we want is a real administration in the future and to guarantee that the disabled veterans will be given the consideration the government has promised and owes to them. Anything else may be highly entertaining to an audience, but is inconclusive and unsatisfactory to the public.

Additional interest will be aroused in the office of President of the United States among the youth of the land since he has been presented with a tub of ice cream.

The "Kept" Newspaper.

Organized labor is again without an outstanding newspaper of its own. The New York Leader has passed away after three months of existence. It was the best edited and most surely conducted of any paper published in that interest which we have seen in America in recent years. It had the good will and approval of labor but labor itself could not give it necessary patronage. The Leader had little of the narrowness, prejudice and bitterness of the Call which when about to die was taken over by the labor unions and relaunched under a different policy and name. There are only a few of these "kept" papers in America and most

MOTORISTS PAY THEIR WAY

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN.

Washington.—The farmer who has to pull his horse over to the side of the road to permit a high powered motor car driven by some city dweller to whiz by, sometimes gets a bit peevish. He has been known to say with considerable asperity that the motorist ought to keep off the farmers roads.

The Department of Agriculture recently has made a study of the costs of highways which shows that the motorist is paying his way and that the farmer's complaint is not well founded. Since 1916 when the government entered the road building field on an extensive scale, practically all the great cross-state highways of the nation have been constructed. They were made possible by the federal aid law which provides that the United States shall pay half the cost of road provided the state pays the other half.

Up to and including the fiscal year ended June 30, 1923, the government had expended in this manner the sum of $264,782,216 on federal aid highways and on forest roads. It is a little behind in its half-and-half obligation as its road expenditures are but 45 per cent of those made by the states.

The money for these federal aid roads comes directly out of the United States treasury. No particular tax is levied to raise these funds. However, there is a tax on automobiles and accessories of 5 per cent, and on motor trucks of 3 per cent, and collections from these impose has amounted in the same period to $589,012,021, or only a little less than twice as much as has been expended on roads. Thus the automobile actually is paying twice over for the federal road. He is operating his machine over roads which have cost him a double price, if you relate the amount of the tax directly to the cost of the road.

In addition, account must be taken of the large sums which automobileists pay to state and city governments for licenses and operators' permits. In some states these run as high as $15 per car per year. In the aggregate these license taxes make a very substantial sum.

A careful survey doubtless would show that the automobileists of the country, directly or indirectly, pay much more than the whole cost of all the roads constructed, whether by federal aid or entirely by state enterprise. The Farmer, therefore, has no real complaint against use by the motorist of the highway that runs past his farm.

Indeed, it is only in a relatively few sections of the country that the farmer is compelled to pull his horses aside to let the motorist pass; in most counties, the city motorist has to watch out or will be run down by a motorizing farmer. The existence of the good road, laid through the farm lands by the federal and state money which has been collected from automobile owners, has made it possible for the farmer to haul heavy loads to market and has enabled him to run his family in town to the movies, thus lightening the monotony of rural life.

The government has extended its inquiry and undertaken to determine what the automobile owner gets out of the road in return for the money which he pays to build it. The study shows that the lessened cost of operation and of maintenance of an automobile used on an improved road compensates for the outlay for the taxes which provide the road building funds.

The Department of Agriculture made an intensive study of a typical stretch of road between New York city and New Haven, Conn. The survey extended over an entire year. The road is concrete, the favorite type now being built under federal aid. All kinds of traffic moving over the road were checked and observed. It was learned the saving in gasoline alone, resulting from the existence of this good road, would, in 14 years, pay both principal and interest on the road on a valuation basis of $50,000 a mile. The comparison was made with a gravel road. It would have cost the automobileists who traversed the road $50,000 a mile more, in a period of 14 years, to use a gravel road than the concrete road. The disparity would have been much greater if compared with an earth road.

The department is making similar comparative studies in various sections of the country and expects to assemble further data of a nature to show that the motorist gets his money's worth out of the automobile taxes he pays.

The sums which good roads save the motorist are of immense proportions. The department says that the annual fuel bill of American motorists amounts to $1,000,000,000. The annual tire bill is estimated at $450,000,000. The cumulative investment in automobiles is fixed at $8,767,500,000 and the amount of depreciation on this great sum varies in accord with the quality of the roads traversed. Over poor roads the percentage of depreciation would be tremendous, perhaps 50 per cent or more in a single year. Over good roads, this would be saved in large part.

The department's inquiries show that local communities frequently complain that the automobileists wear out the surfaces of the roads rapidly. Every motorist knows this is true and that a single heavy season sometimes will develop bumps in a highway and make resurfacing necessary to restore it. Even if this is so, the department says, the automobileists pay enough to recompense the communities. But, it is pointed out, resurfacing is but a fraction of the whole cost of a road. The original cost includes more expensive factors and these are durable. Grading is extremely expensive, often the most expensive part of road building. The construction of drainage structures—bridges, culverts, ditches—are the expensive operations. The smooth surface is no more than the polishing off. It may be compared to the cost of polishing a shoe in comparison with the cost of making the whole shoe.

The roads built by the Romans in Europe still are in use and in many places their foundations have required little or no repair in from 1,000 to 2,000 years. Watling street, which runs straight up through England, from London to the Wall, still exists. The great highways which Caesar built in France still are used. They have had to be resurfaced time and again but the foundations are there.

It generally is considered that the greatest benefit of good roads arises from the opening up of the country and the increase in the price of adjacent land.

of them have defects. The Leader ate up $75,000 of a fund furnished by the unions. Here and there we have a newspaper, which is recognized as a propaganda publication, subsidized by the party or personal leaders and friends, but they are mostly weak and wanting. The Leader was strong, virile and clean, ably edited and printed well.

Secretary Mellon should have the support of the country on the program of tax reduction and the cutting down of national expense. The people of the nation ask that tax reduction be made. The heavy surtaxes have done no great good in raising higher revenue. We have dropped off over two billion dollars in revenue. Tax exempt bonds have found a way to hide revenue and we have invited billions of dollars in waste in government because of the ready and easy sale of such securities.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST.

TAKING THE BABY'S PART.
Perhaps I'm wrong—so off it man!
But for a moment let's suppose
Someone holds your hands and hose
Just when the baby fun began,
And very positively said:

"Now, little one, it's time for bed,"

Would you go smilingly from us,
Or, like the baby, make a fuss?

Suppose you did not wish to sleep...

Were not yet wearied of the day
But had no power your will to say,

Would you not loudly start to weep
And twist and squirm to overthrow

The will of those who had you go?

How would you like it to be rocked?

Will sleep at last your eyelids locked?

Let me suppose some ghostress.

As large to you as your appear

Unto the baby crying here,

Hold you in arms of tenderness.

But forceful arms, against your will,

And whispered often: "Now keep still!"

Would you believe the world all wrong?

Or would you listen to her song?

Would you like, however sweet,

Stand from your mind a moment thought,

That sleep was something to be fought,

With flying arms and kicking feet?

Would you not run, beyond a doubt,

To wear the lady's patience out?

Yet every night our roguish miles

Is made to go to sleep like this.

Who's Who Today

KING GEORGE

King George, young Greek monarch, is reported as leaving his native country for a short period—perhaps two months, as a political move on the part of the New Greeks preceding the coming general elections.

They believe the move will help their cause and that if a new republic is proclaimed his absence will spare them the embarrassment of throwing him out.

George's life has been a hectic one. When his father, Constantine, first fled the country it was made clear to the Crown Prince that he must not go to the Crown Prince. He did not go to the throne due to his pro-German tendencies. His younger brother succeeded Constantine. George succeeded to the throne when Alexander died from the effects of a monkey bite.

Even George's romance was a turbulent affair. He laid long siege to the heart of Princess Elizabeth of Roumania and it is said she finally accepted him after he had pleaded his cause in dramatic fashion at St. Moritz, Switzerland.

George leaves Greece temporarily at least, it is probable a regent will be appointed until after the election.

"You are used to the two passage ways, meeting the wall of the hall with that of the hall where the staircase runs down to the story below. You have not asked why this should be in a mansion as wonderful in its proportions and its finish, or if you have, you have accounted for it by the fact that a new house with new walls had been joined to an old one, thus necessitating little oddities in construction which, on the whole, were interesting and added to the quaintness of the interior. But what of the space between those two walls? It cannot have been filled, for I see right and left, and there must run from here down to the second floor, and further, an empty space less than one yard in width, blocked from sight by the wall of this room, by that of the hall and—here I pulled open the closet door—"by that of this closet at one end—and by the wall holding the medicine cabinet at the other. Isn't that so, Edgar? It may imagination, but with me, or is my imagination a reasonable one?"

"It looks that way," he stammered; "but—but why?"

"Ah, the why is another matter. That may be buried in Uncle's grave. It is the fact I want to impress upon you that there is a plain sensible near the piano desk and a narrow door which, when a child, was once carried and which if we can wrench it will open up for us the solution of where Uncle used to hide the papers which, according to Edgar, never went to the bank and not into any of the drawers which this room contains."

"Oh, exclaimed Orpha, "if I could only remember! But all is blank except what I have already told you. TODAY'S RECIPES

Jam Cake—One cup sugar, two-thirds cup shortening, four eggs, one-half nutmeg, one teaspoon all-spice, one teaspoon cinnamon, four tablespoons sour cream, one cup jelly or jam, one teaspoon soda stirred into the sour cream before mixing. Do not beat the butter and sugar separately, but stir all ingredients together except eggs, which are to be beaten separately and added, and bake at once in moderate oven in layer tins. John with boiled icing.

Hickory Nut Cake—One-half cup butter, one cup powdered sugar, two cups flour, one-half glass milk, five eggs, white, one-fourth pound hickory nuts, one heaping cup baking powder, one-half cup sugar, one-half cup oil, add sugar, one teaspoon vanilla, a little flour, at a time, a little milk at a time, beaten whites. Lastly, add baking powder and nuts.

Country Sausage—Sausage may be either fried or baked. In this case it would be better to fry it as you do not need the oven for any part of the dinner. Heat the frying pan and put in sausages. In the center of the pan, on one side, turn and brown the other, then turn the fire low and let it fry more slowly. Be sure it is done through as any sausage is unpalatable if not thoroughly done. Pour off most of the fat, straining it through a cloth for use later on. The potatoes, presumably left from those that were baked for luncheon, may be sliced and the fat left in the pan. Leftover potatoes also can be well, or they may be taken out of the skins, mixed with butter, a little milk, seasoned with pepper and salt and reheat in the oven, in which case the sausage may be baked.

SUGGESTIONS

Sticky Rollers—When the wanger rollers get sticky rub them with a cloth dampened with paraffin and you will think you have new rollers.

Rubber Gloves in Kitchen—For many housekeepers the wearing of rubber gloves, though inconvenient, is necessary as much for the comfort of the hands as for their appearance, especially in cold weather.

The gloves are worn when washing dishes, woodwork, floors and the outside of the house, when washing vegetables, particularly when preparing peppers. When rubber gloves get a puncture they may be patched just like a punctured tire. When past mending they are useful to wear in picking tomatoes and in doing other outdoor work for which they are not found too clumsy.

THE ROLL—A travel pack, needed to the bedroom closet door, is a great convenience in keeping ties and belts in order. They can be hung on it and kept free from the wrinkles they would get if put in dresser or with other clothes.

I could not get up out of bed mornings on account of my back; I thought it would break in two, and if I started to do any work I would have to lie down. I do not believe that any woman ever suffered worse than I did. I spent lots of money, but nothing helped me until I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. YOUR BABY and MINE

By MYRTLE MEYER ELDERD

Mrs. Elder is happy to advise all mothers about the care of their children of any age, or on any subject which does not belong in the field of this doctor.

DAILY BATHING.

Every so often I feel impelled to write about bathing the baby, because every so often some one propounds the question, "Why does a clean little thing like a baby need to be bathed every day?"

A baby is clean, but it isn't just because we need to wash away pounds of dirt that we wash his dirtiness, but because the bath for him is a sort of skin exercise. He doesn't do very much exercising for himself during the first few months of life. He has most of the time been a baby, and day in and day out, wooly garments. So once a day, at the very least, we must exercise the skin and help it rid itself of poisons, which if not sent off through the pores of the skin, would be added to the burden of the other organs of elimination, the lungs, kidneys and bowels.

MEAL TIME.

It does not make any difference at what hour of the day the bath is given. If the baby is a poor sleeper at night, it is a very good thing to give the bath just preceding the 6 o'clock feeding, and after the 6 o'clock feeding.

UNANSWERABLE QUESTIONS.

I have been collecting for some days a lot of letters which I can't answer. I think I'll quote bits of them here, other readers may be more fitted to cope with them than I.

Betty and Peggy want to know how to "start a conversation interesting to young men." Now who can answer that? It might be cynical and tell them to make the young men talk about themselves, but I realize that there are many young men too bashful, or even too disinterested, to find themselves an absorbing topic. Perhaps some young men would be good enough to tell the young girls they like them to be talked to about when Gulliver is in love with the girl.

Please give me your advice. I cannot ask another as I do not understand it, and do not want to waste time with someone who loves another.

Please give me your advice. I know absolutely nothing about the state of the young man's affections. It seems to me, though, that your friends know too much and they are most unkind to you. Since the young man has been singing you all along for ten months, he must enjoy your company very much. Do not let his former affair interfere with your friendship. Unless he himself talks about the other girl to such an extent that you believe he is still in love with her, you have no reason to believe that he is.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had a date with a boy friend for Sunday evening. On Sunday evening, without telephoning me to see if he could come, another boy dropped in with the same story. I told the boy friend I explained that I was not to blame, but my friend will not forgive me, and he has not telephoned me since. He used to telephone me every day. TROUBLED.

You were not to blame, for what happened is your fault. Now, there is nothing further to do. If the young man insists on being angry, let him, I presume, he will soon see that he is in the wrong and then will telephone you again.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I have been married for six months and have a baby girl, eleven months old. I love my husband dearly and feel that he can truthfully say he returns my love. We have never had any misunderstandings since our marriage, and he

If the pores are enlarged add a pinch of powdered cinchona to each cupful of benzoin, and rub with water that has had a drop or two of benzoin added—just enough to give it a milky appearance.

Here's another one from a woman who bought a house in a new neighborhood, and finds that the neighbors refuse to make friends with her. What can she do?

She is very lonely and feels desperately homesick. She can think of nothing to do but to suggest selling the house and moving to an entirely different neighborhood where people might be more sociable, for a bad beginning is an impossible handicap. She might, by joining a church not quite in the neighborhood, make friends elsewhere.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: The cream you mentioned is a trade preparation, and the article that you read must have been advertising it.

The best way to reduce is through

Rail Shares Are Given Attention By Speculators

Associated Press
New York.—Switching of speculative interest from the industrial to the railroad shares was one of the features of this week's stock market, which continued to ignore the unfavorable political developments abroad.

Demand sterling and all the principal continental exchanges collapsed to new low levels for the year.

Industrial issues, which had been the main object of the diversified part of this year's market taking and a renewal of bear selling. But the recognized leaders offered good resistance to the selling pressure.

Moody's Review of Investments

Moody's Weekly Review of Financial Conditions in its current issue says in part:

"Whether the short covering in the stock market was mere coincidence or not, it probably facilitated the sale of the big issue of Transportation bonds. There is nothing so cheering to investors as a buoyant stock market. Yet no substantial change has lately occurred in the statistical position of either the stock market or any of our leading industries.

"Sterling exchange seems to be getting into a sustained period of upward trend of grain and cotton bills should now be about financed; and the trade position of Great Britain, both foreign and domestic, is definitely improving. Thus sterling bills, especially around the latter part of this month may prove a pretty good investment.

"Railroad earnings and income in the last year may have been increasing a few per cent. on the property value as to make the recapture clause of the Transportation Act an important matter. The straws indicate that railroads may eventually have to pay contingent fund charges, and that these will be a deduction from the earning power of the railway stocks.

"Non-existence of the contingencies fund, however, which would be a revolving fund for financing weak roads, would greatly strengthen the position of the railroads in protecting them against financial embarrassment. Perhaps investors are needlessly sacrificing some of these low grade bonds. They evidently are if the recapture clause is to be enforced—as seems rather probable."

Building Is on Increase in State

Wisconsin's October total of building contracts awarded was $6,353,600, according to E. W. Dodge Corporation, an increase of 27% over September although a decrease of 36% from October of last year. Last month's total included $2,424,600, or 43%, for residential buildings; $1,341,000, or 25% for public works and utilities; $717,000, or 13%, for industrial buildings; and $60,000, or 10%, for business buildings.

Total contracts awarded in Wisconsin during the first 10 months of this year have amounted to $66,823,100, an increase of 16% over the corresponding period of last year.

These low grade bonds. They evidently are if the recapture clause is to be enforced—as seems rather probable."

Report on Real Estate Investment Securities

One of the most important reports of the business year has been that of the committee on real estate securities of the investment bankers association of the United States. It will be remembered that one of the leading members of this association, John Moody, has recently been in Janesville.

Morris Fox, of Milwaukee, the well known broker and investment securities expert, is the chairman. An exhaustive analysis of the real estate bond and mortgage securities offered and sold in the past year and the value of such investments is made.

There were 179 fires throughout this country and Canada during October, where the loss for each was $10,000 or more, with the aggregate $21,000,000, compared with $22,723,000 for September of this year and $40,065,000 for October of 1922. For 10 months the fire losses were $334,150,000 this year, compared with $332,657,000 for the same months of 1922.

Mill prices of Portland cement have been reduced 5 to 10 cents a barrel, the first reduction in about a year.

Do we guess it right?

When you invest without the proper investigation, without knowing as much about the security as you do about a car or any other important purchase, there must be a reason.

Our guess is that you hesitate to put yourself under obligation to a bank. Or you fear that the bank will urge you to buy one of its own securities.

This is entirely wrong. You can use the complete facilities of our Bond Department, including the Moody services, for the investigation of any security, and you will not be made to feel under any obligation. Nor will you be urged to buy from us. This service is perfectly free to the community, and confidential. Use it.

How to Invest

A survey of the cases of several thousand successful investors shows that 9 out of 10 follow two simple, easily understood rules:

First, they keep all their surplus funds constantly at work. Second, they make sure of obtaining the best interest rate consistent with safety.

Straus Bonds and Straus Service furnish the best medium to accomplish these results. Investigate the possibilities of the Straus Plan.

Everyman's Investment Opportunity

There are certain investment rules by which the average investor—the one who cannot afford to take chances—may judge the desirability of the opportunity. Foremost should come the stability of the enterprise, the next the demand for the service or the product, after which such factors as management, record of dividends, yield from the securities should be carefully considered by the investor.

Taken from every angle, it would be difficult to find a more representative investment for the people of Wisconsin than is offered in the safe, dependable 7% preferred shares of the Wisconsin Power, Light & Heat Co. The stability of the company is evidenced by the millions invested in plants, equipment and lines, while the demand for the company's service increased more than 20% during the past two years and is continuing to increase each month. The efficiency management of the company's many properties is reflected in the highly-satisfactory service enjoyed by patrons, and at the same time the past dividend performance of the Wisconsin Power, Light & Heat Co. and the excellent 7% yield from these preferred shares are all that any conservative investor could demand.

Judged from every angle, Wisconsin Power, Light & Heat Co. 7% preferred shares are the ideal investment opportunity for every man.

AT THE APOLLO.

Here they are, the darling heroes of the legitimate stage—"Potash and Perlmutter," those Jewish merchants who have been immortalized by Monroe Glass. Supporting the stars are the expert comic, Carl and Barney Bernard in this famous Jewish actress Verna Gordon, who made her name famous by the portrayal of the mother part in "Humbleton Hill." Constance Griffith and Bernard are the co-stars who made the Jewish merchants famous on the legitimate stage several seasons ago, and who have returned once more with fresh play on the dollars of these enterprising cloak and suit merchants. Behind the comedy of the two partners there is a poignant drama, but the tragedy is not destined to appear in any length of time on the screen "version" of the story.

The story deals with the love affair of the two, and the honest villain is Feldman, the lawyer.

Abe and Mawrins are on hand in full force with their "business," and the "ambitious" Rosie is not lacking in action.

Florence Vidor is the high-spirited, beautiful and vivacious heroine of "Conqueror of the Woman," a picture of a woman's life, and G. W. Howard is in "Kidnapping Collins." The action transpires mostly on yachts, the estate of a foreign nobleman, the office of a rich American oil company, and a small town. There is a thrilling race between a yacht and a schooner and Miss Vidor displays still swimming, diving, and rope-climbing, all of which Hoot Gibson and admirably suited to play opposite the beautiful Florence Vidor.

Four acts of vaudeville and a special picture will form the bill for Friday, Saturday and Sunday.

AT THE BEVERLY.

The stenographers helpmates in the office, factory and shop are determined to bring the picture by that name—"Daytime Wives," which has a one day run at this theater. The daytime wife and the indolent, excitable, loving, self-indulging wife are contrasted in this picture with Dorothy Pergo playing the part of the capable secretary to Elwood Adams, done by Wynham Standing. Grace Diamond, the beautiful widow wife of Adams, who repents her extravagances and finally regains the love of her husband.

The star of the picture is the H. C. Witwer serial showing George Oliva as the prize fighting hero, has become a popular feature at this theater. Aesop's Fables is another regular Sunday feature, a specialty for Sunday night will be Hoel's six piece orchestra.

A galaxy of stars such as Corinne

Griffith, Elliott Dexter, Hobart Washburn, Bryant Washburn and Conway Torrie add much color to "The Common Law," the picturization of the novel by that name written by John Cleland. The star is the son of an aristocratic New Yorker, and a novice model bridge the breach between their social positions by love and after a period of opposition from his family win out. The theme of "The Common Law" is generally known due to the popularity of the novel a few years ago. The scene in New York, the home of the Nosticks and in metropolitan cafes are gorgeous, the New Year's eve party being a climax in settings.

Competition of Miss Marlon Lychenholm, a guest of Mrs. Arthur, comprised the last half of the program. The composer played her prelude and wedding march. The solemnity of a wedding ceremony is depicted in the march, while the prelude radiates cheer. Miss Lychenholm's compositions are modern in style, with a pronounced rhythm predominating. Her string trio has a compelling appeal, replete with weird moments.

Mrs. Eber Arthur played her "Song Without Words," for the cello, a pleasing bit of melody well interpreted. Mrs. Arthur's breadth of tone was displayed in Miss Lychenholm's "Romance and Melody" for the viola, and she was required to give the dainty "Song of the Piper," one of the delightful numbers of the afternoon.

To close the program Miss Lychenholm played her "Barcarolle" and "Mazurka," both of which distinguish her in the field of coming composers.

In response to an ovation by the audience, she returned to play a "Pianola Solo" by Gershwin, in which her energetic tone was given opportunity. Miss Lychenholm plays with the ease and simplicity of the artist.

100 WAYS To Make Money

By BILLY WINNER

If I Were a Student—I WOULD STUDY AND MAKE MONEY DOING IT.

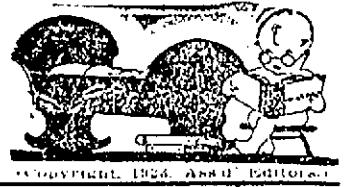

There would be people in my neighborhood with children, these people would want some one to sit with their children while they were at the theater, parties, etc.

I would find these mothers and fathers with a Janesville Gazette Want Ad. I would charge a fair amount of staying with their children of an evening.

I would stay until the parents return, and then I would be PAID for my time. Sounds good, doesn't it?

Well, it is so good that I would telephone my Want Ad to the Janesville Gazette right away. I never wait for profit; I go out after it.

State's witness were Dr. D. W. Leitch, Denton county coroner; Dr. Lester K. May, Denton, who attended Ellsworth; and Foster Allen, Henry Triebel and Russell Peacock of New Ellsworth, who sat in at the card game at which the shooting occurred.

The medical men said a .38 calibre bullet severed a vein immediately below the heart.

Allen, Triebel and Peacock told the story. With Ellsworth they were gambling at poker for small stakes in the basement of Ellsworth's hotel. Rader later joined them. At 9:30 p. m. Ellsworth got up and walked to the south end of the room. Rader, who was present, arose and followed the wounded man, escaping unnoticed.

Fired Pan. Times.

Hot words were passed. According to Allen's testimony, Rader was struck by Ellsworth and in reply whipped a revolver from a pocket, aimed and fired four times. Ellsworth, he said, staggered across the room, up a flight of stairs and into the lobby. Rader fled, leaving the wounded man, escaping unnoticed.

Witnesses said they made no attempt to stop Rader. Allen hid behind a stove. Triebel remained at the table. Peacock scurried into the street.

The three men said on the stand they had been drinking but declared it was not noticeable on Rader. Allen said he and Triebel had two drinks in the afternoon.

The defense offered no witness, but cross-examined those of the defense.

The defense sought to establish the facts.

The sworn statement of Ellsworth, made on his death-bed, was not introduced.

PLENTY OF DEMAND FOR DAIRY STOCK

Breeders Urged to List Surplus Stock at Once—Buyers Are Active.

By JACK C. NISBET

Bonafide dairy cattle are at the present time selling at a premium.

They are enjoying an unprecedented demand. Men are coming every day with a check book which means a cash payment on all cattle purchased. The time to sell is when the market is good. Individual price is important, but good prices stimulate the growth and sales.

At the present time the price justifies raising every grade heifer that is born. It also warrants the proper feeding and care of the heifer calf. The veal market must always be satisfied but let's do it with the bull calves and fatten out this grade and scrub stock market which is so hard to move and overcome. If every man who has an interest in the development of the livestock industry of Rock county will make a trip to the market with every bull calf that is not purebred, and see that it gets to market, within a very short time the scrub sire will not exist.

Plenty of Demand

Buyers come to the Farm Bureau office and from here they are taken out to see men who have cattle for sale. Men who have listed their stock have been able to sell their surplus at a profit. Other men who have not listed stock have been stumbled on to. However, it is a very haphazard way of taking care of buyers. How easy it would be if every farmer in Rock county merely sent in a list of what he would sell and what he would sell for.

Right now it is the time to figure how about the feed for or how much room there will be in the barn. Listing your stock as late as two weeks from the present time may be too late to get in on this rush of buyers who are coming at the present time. Do it now! It will take but a few minutes and may mean saving you a lot of extra stress and worry within the near future.

Most List Stock

If we are to become a great county in the future, and known as a place where people can come and buy livestock, we must sell them as the buyers come. If they go away finding nothing for sale, the natural desire is to go home and buy from prospective buyers. These counties are wide open to the trade mark "Wisconsin" on dairy cattle, and if we are going to compete with them we must be on our toes and ready to meet them in every way. What the farmer and breeder can do is to list his cattle for sale. It is the easiest and simplest thing to do and yet it is vital in getting a good buyer to sell him quickly before he gets the "move on" fever.

Rock county has stock for sale when the prices are right. Rock county is going to be known as a place to get better livestock. Rock county is so situated that it has the advantage over every county in the state. Will you do your share?

WEATHER REPORTS WILL BE ISSUED TO BEEKEEPERS

Arrangements have been completed with the U. S. weather bureau for a new service which promises to be of great value to northern beekeepers. The agreement is a result of negotiations carried on by the Agricultural Research Service, Bureau of the Apiculture inspection service of the state department of agriculture.

For many years beekeepers have understood that bees which are carried into the cellar for the winter should be taken in "immediately after the last fall flight." In many cases, however, hopes that no Indian summer would last a few more days have proved false, and snow has found the bees where they could ill stand the cold weather. Heavy winter losses in Michigan, Wisconsin and Minnesota have been due to this cause.

When this problem was presented to S. J. Cox, weather forecaster at Chicago, he took to help by no means the beekeepers of particular weather conditions by wire. These telegrams are to be sent out whenever after Nov. 1 a day or two with a temperature over 50 degrees and clear weather is to be followed by cloudy and colder. The only obligations on the part of the beekeepers is that the telegrams will be sent collect and that the telegraph company will charge what it paid the beekeeper.

Similar arrangements have been made by the meteorological survey of Great Britain and one or two Wisconsin beekeepers have put out the plan for several years. This is the first season in which it will be available to the beekeepers of the northern states generally.

The last two beekeepers who wish this service to be made up by S. E. Fricker at the capitol annex, Madison, for forwarding to the weather bureau office, the chief of this bureau which is a part of the department of agriculture at Washington, has agreed to the extension plan throughout the United States in case it works out satisfactory this fall.

MORE THOROUGHBRED STALLIONS IN USE

The percentage of purebred stallions used for public service in Wisconsin is steadily increasing, according to a report made to the state by the Wisconsin department of agriculture. In 1937, when the stallion law went into effect, grade and scrub stallions comprised 66 per cent of the total number of stallions in the state. Since that time the compulsory advertising of these classes has resulted in an increased demand for purebred stallions of 100 per cent, and undesirable grade and scrub are gradually being eliminated. In 1938 only 22.7 per cent of all the stallions licensed in this state were grades and scrub, which is in great contrast to the 66 per cent of 1937.

Purebred stallions, which form 77.3 per cent of the total for 1938, are now available in almost every county of the state, and in a large part, they will easily replace all grade and scrub sires. The present horse market makes the breeding of poor quality horses unprofitable, but there is a demand for good sound work horses, and these can only be produced through the consistent use of purebred sires.

The multi-page above mentioned contains valuable information on the care of horses, and will be supplied upon request as long as the supply lasts.

BROWN SWISS SALE AT COOPER FARM

One of the most noted breeds of true dairy Brown Swiss, which will be dispensed on Wednesday, Nov. 27, when the cattle are signed by John Cooper and Son, Avon, will be sold at auction. This herd will have been established for 12 years and around 60 head will be offered. The herd is accredited and is being sold "as is."

TREND OF FARM PRICES

Prices of seven farm products are higher than a month ago, 14 are lower and three are unchanged. Compared with a year ago, 13 are higher and 12 are lower.

Starting from a level which was already extraordinarily high, receipts of hogs have increased in seasonal fashion during the last month, and prices lost some ground under this pressure. Receipts are likely to be the month of lightest egg production.

Receipts have fallen off fully one-third in the last month.

Domestic consumers are still disposing of hog products at a rate which is about as high as ever, but the market is still not as heavy as it was a month ago.

Domestic consumers are still disposing of hog products at a rate which is about as high as ever, but the market is still not as heavy as it was a month ago.

Carroll Outplays Milton Gridders for 27-0 Victory

Busy Man's Sport Page

By FRANK SINCLAIR

AS THE FOOTBALL season advances, picking winners sometimes becomes more difficult because of sudden injuries and losses to the teams. Take for instance the game Saturday between Wisconsin and Michigan. Were Utterly in the lineup of the Wolverines there would be no choice but to say the Wolverines would surely be on the loser's side. With the big quarterback out of the contest, a quarterback who is the best in the conference, there is a chance that confuses the issue. Still the Badgers are not showing any wonderful degree of stuff, particularly in the department of mental faculty, and the margin of victory should be slight one in favor of Michigan. It seems to be the last chance of the season for the Badgers to show improvement, for if they do not do it in this contest their chances against Chicago will be lessened.

The game opened with Carroll kicking. A recovery of a partially blocked punt, a pass, and a good plunge by Blacko put the ball in dangerous territory, but Carroll held and blocked Dillner's drop kick. Milton recovered, but were forced to punt. An exchange of punts featured by a brilliant return by Stern put the ball on Milton's 30-yard line, from where Stern tore around right end for a touchdown. Ellerson kicked goal.

The Brown and Blue threatened Carroll's goal through Captain Hill's off-tackle drives and passing, but a fumble forced an attempt to score from the field, which went wide of the mark.

At the beginning of the second half, a fumbled punt gave Carroll the ball on the 35-yard line. Two passes by Stern intermixed with line plays put the ball on the four-yard line, and a fake from open formation took it over. Stern kicked the point. Completed Fly Passes.

Soon after an intercepted pass by Carroll and a pass, Stern, to Hertz, put the ball on the 16-yard line. Stern selected, and for another score, Blahnik missed the goal. Another intercepted pass and fast work by Blahnik got another score for Carroll. Blahnik carrying it over the line, Blahnik kicked goal for the final point of the game.

Carroll completed five out of seven passes for a total gain of 54 yards, and had but one pass intercepted. Milton connected but seven times in 17 attempts for a total yardage of 87, and five of their throws resulted in an interception. Humbling was about even. Carroll led the ball four times, and Milton twice. Only two goals were inflicted during the course of the game, both on Carroll for holding.

Dickinson Plays Half.

Stern was the big star for Carroll, his passing and running was a big factor in the Waukesha team's success. Blahnik, who had not at all distinguished himself, Dickinson of Janesville was in the game during most of the first half, and did some good punting and line plumping. He was removed to save his injured leg.

For Milton, Blacko played a good game at fullback, making some good runs with the ball, and showing some defensive, but Captain Hill was the outstanding man. He ran the tackles for many good gains, and passed well. It was his passes that resulted successfully for Milton, and the two which were intercepted by him were due to the ball getting away from him.

HOPE TO WEAR QUEEN'S RAIMENT AS MONARCHIST MOVEMENT GROWS

With the return to his castle at Oels of Crown Prince Frederick Wilhelm and the growing belief in Germany that the Hohenzollerns will be returned to power in the near future comes the hope of Crown Princess Cecilie, wife of the former kaiser's son, that she will some day wear the royal raiment of queen of all Germany. The crown princess and her children have been residing at Oels during the long exile of the former crown prince in Holland, where he was forced to live following Germany's capitulation. She never has given up hope of her husband returning to the throne. She was a social favorite in the pre-war days.

FOUR-HUNDRED-MILE DOG RACE DURING QUEBEC CARNIVAL

The husky dog team maintained at Chateau Frontenac in Quebec, which will be one of the entries in the race and, below, five new arrivals in the husky family a bit too young for this year's event.

A 400-mile race for the eastern International dog sled derby cup and cash prizes is to be staged during the carnival weeks at Quebec this winter. The race, inaugurated last year, proved one of the big events of the season. The husky dog team maintained at Chateau Frontenac in the Canadian metropolis will be one of the teams entered. Scores of winter sports lovers enjoyed rides behind this team on Dufferin Terrace last winter, including many Americans who visit the winter play sport annually. Five members have been added to this dog team but the newcomers will be a bit too young to enter this year's race, as the lower photo shows. These puppies, however, will draw much attention. A number of dog team entries from Canada and the northern and western parts of the U. S. have been received so far.

"HEAVENLY TWINS" PROVE TERRORS ON GRIDIRON FOR CAPITAL COLLEGE

Milton Ladd, manager of George Washington U. grid team, talking to the McLean twins.

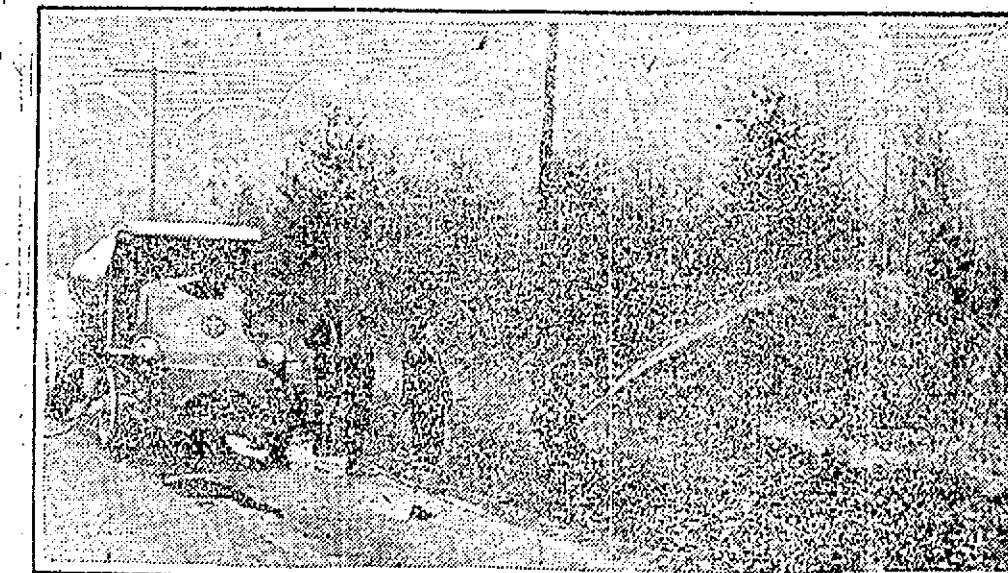

When John and George McLean appeared for football practice at George Washington University they were immediately dubbed "the heavenly twins" due to the fact their father is a minister. But the other players soon found there was nothing blissful in playing against them. They have proved stars of the U. S. capital team. Milton Ladd, son of Sen. Edwin F. Ladd of North Dakota, manages the team.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Meyer ready to speed through married life.

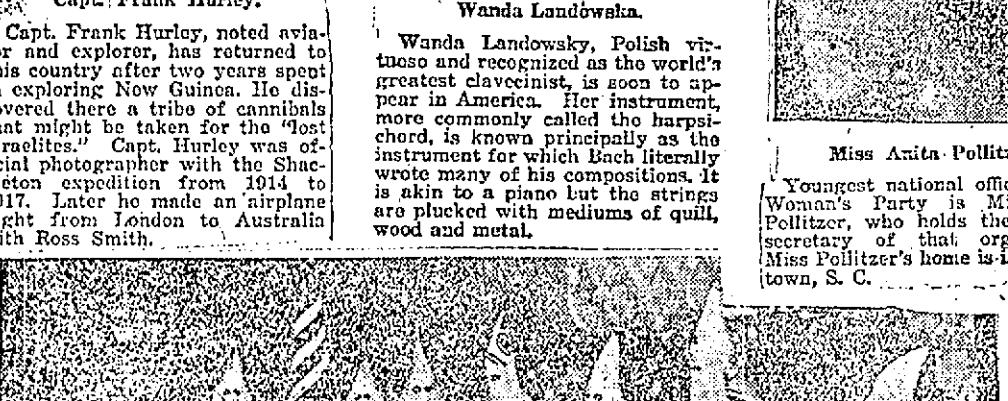

There was a tinge of spring in the air and plenty of "gas" in the tank when Miss Margaret Sterns of Brooklyn went riding last March. Motorcycle officer Walter Meyer was on the job. Result: Miss Sterns was arrested for speeding and fined $25. As she left the courtroom she said to Meyer, "I'll get you some day." The two have just been married and are spending their honeymoon.

Wanda Landowska.

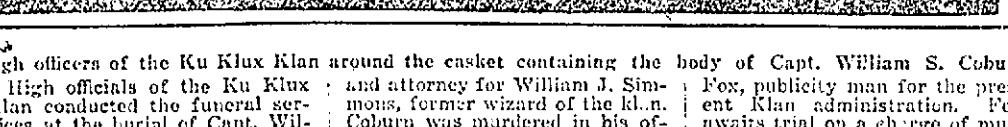

Capt. Frank Hurley, noted aviator and explorer, has returned to this country after two years spent in exploring New Guinea. He discovered there a tribe of cannibals that might be taken for the "Lost Israelites." Capt. Hurley was official photographer with the Shackleton expedition from 1914 to 1917. Later he made an airplane flight from London to Australia with Ross Smith.

Wanda Landowska, Polish virtuoso and recognized as the world's greatest clavichordist, is soon to appear in America. Her instrument, more commonly called the harpsichord, is known principally as the instrument for which Bach literally wrote many of his compositions. It is akin to a piano but the strings are plucked with mediums of quill, wood and metal.

Serious civil war in Germany, which has smoldered ever since the Bavarian secessionists asserted their power, looms as Dr. August Von Kahr assumes the role of dictator of all Germany for the Bavarian Fascist forces and plans to send his forces toward Berlin. President Ebert and Chancellor Stresemann of the Berlin government have issued a proclamation announcing that all supporters of Adolf Hitler, real leaders of the Fascist, will be considered traitors.

Cylinder Regrinding

The best equipped shop in town to regrind your cylinder block—and do it quickly.

THIS IS A STUDEBAKER YEAR

Long service and satisfactory operation depends largely on HOW a car is cared for and driven. This is the third of a short series of articles by an expert automobile engineer, who shows you how to care for and drive your car.

How to Preserve the Lustre of the Body

Preserving the fine, varnished surface on your car is not difficult, yet thousands of owners quickly ruin the finish on their cars in a very short time, through using the wrong methods of washing and caring for the finish.

You can't keep the finish on your car if all you possess in the way of cleaning equipment is one sponge, a chamois and a supply of water. YOU MUST keep one sponge and chamois especially for the body, and another sponge and chamois for the wheels and chassis. If you use one sponge for washing all parts of the car, it is not very long before it is used on the varnished surface of the body it leaves dirty streaks which soon spoils the finish. Here is the equipment you require to keep the varnished surface in good condition:

- 1 Large Wool Sponges
- 2 Large Chamois Leathers
- A Few Yards of Soft, Cheesecloth
- 1 Soft Wool (not feather) duster
- 1 Large Bucket
- 1 Spoke Brush (if your car has wire wheels)

Removing Grease, Oil or Tar Spots from Body

If there are any grease, oil or tar spots on the body, it will quickly spot up and dull the finish. If left on for any length of time—so remove it before you start to wash the car. NEVER USE GASOLINE on a varnished surface, or try to remove oil or grease with a dry cloth. Take a piece of soft chamois or cheese cloth, and after soaking it in water, squeeze it out fairly dry, then pour over it a little olive oil and gently rub in straight lines, the part of the body with the grease or oil on it. Finish by lightly polishing the part treated, with a piece of dry cloth.

Where to Wash the Car

It may not seem very important just where you wash your car, as ruined because the washing was done in the wrong place, or at the wrong time. A CAR SHOULD NEVER BE WASHED IN THE GLARE OF THE HOT SUN, OR DIRECTLY AFTER YOU COME IN FROM A RUN ON A VERY HOT DAY. Washing the car in the hot sun, or while the body is warm, is one of the surest ways I know of to ruin the finish of a car. Always wash it in the shade—and when the body is fairly cool. Just notice how many cars have a good finish on the body, but a dull finish on the hood! The dull finish on the hood was caused, in nine cases out of ten, by the owner washing the car while the hood was warm.

Finish Easily Spoiled If Hosing or Sponging Not Done Right

First—Hose the body ALL over. But TAKE CARE TO REMOVE THE NOZZLE FIRST, so that the stream of water does not strike the varnished surface with any great force behind it. If there is any pressure behind the stream of water, it simply drives the dust and grit into the varnish, especially if the car is a new one, and absolutely ruins the finish. Just flow the water gently on the mud or dust until it begins to soften and float off, then take the hose in one hand, and the sponge you are going to use on the body in the other, and go all over the body, rubbing gently in straight lines—NEVER WITH A CIRCULAR MOTION.

BE SURE, that the sponge goes over every part of the body, for although the surface may LOOK clean after running the water over it, there are fine particles of grit left that will scratch the finish if they are left to be removed when you wipe the body dry with the chamois.

When you have sponged the body all over, take the hose and gently play water all over the surface once more to make sure that all dust and grit have been washed off. Now fill the bucket with clean water, and finish by drying the body with the chamois leather, taking particular care to keep it clean and well squeezed out. Do not keep on rubbing after the surface is dry.

After you have finished washing the car, rinse out the sponges and the chamois leather in clean water. Then put them away where they will not get dirty, for unless they are kept clean you will have dirty sponges all over the finish every time you use them.

the following news letter written by Annie Wilken: "There are 15 pupils in our school. Our teacher is Mrs. Jocella H. Campbell. We had a Halloween social and made $36.30. We were given a roller ball and net and some photo equipment. We will buy things for hot lunches, too. We entertained the public school at a Halloween party, Oct. 31. We played many different games and had contests and a lunch. We are having very good time playing the games you sent us for the month of November. In case you have any questions, just call. The same should be built for human beings. Southern Wisconsin has many different kinds of birds, as any school boy or girl who has had birds study well knows. Would not be fine if each family in a school would have different kinds of birds next spring, with a view to attracting different kinds of birds? The book, "Bird Houses Boys and Girls Can Build," tells all about the habits and preferences of different birds and tells how to build the kind of houses that each bird likes best. This interesting book can be obtained by any school boy or girl for the small sum of 50 cents. If the coupon published herewith is used, Novak's center school sent an order for one of the books the past week.

Any boy or girl who wants to make bird house and enter it in the Gazette contest next spring can do so, whether or not bird house building is taken up as a school project. The long winter evenings will afford plenty of time to make birdhouses that are quite elaborate. A large number of prizes will be awarded by the Gazette.

MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS

Are you giving this great big thought the consideration you should? Concentrate now and come to know that it is indeed selfish for a man to become so engrossed in business as to allow it to dominate his existence and constant thoughts, and for a man to measure his success by the size of his business and money he has been able to accumulate is a moral sin. To allow your home to receive minor consideration is a reflection upon the good wife and the kiddies whom you, deep down in your heart, love most of all.

Every effort you make to succeed should be equalized between business and the home and if there is a preference let it fall on the side that can and will do most to create constructive thoughts, maintain health and strength, assure success, happiness, contentment, and in later years, in case of adversities, assure protection and a place of refuge for yourself and those most near and dear to you.

You do not hesitate to procure and apply the latest conveniences for your office and business, everything that will save time and lessen labor is considered a necessity—WHAT ABOUT YOUR HOME?

Is it in keeping and in harmony with progress made in your business? Is it equipped with the many modern time and labor saving conveniences that do transform the wife's work from drudgery to one of pleasure? It is large and pretentious enough to care for your requirements conveniently, well painted and in good repair, with rooms properly arranged for entertainment, sunlight, ventilation, etc., and the grounds landscaped and set with lawn, shrubs, trees and flowers and playgrounds for the children?

Life is but a short span to hold and crowd into so many mistakes, regrets, worries, happiness, success, contentment and joys.

When we reflect upon the future we can come to but one conclusion and our efforts and actions will be governed by this awakening, that modern, attractive, convenient homes must receive first consideration; that to plan and build; to journey the path that leads to success, contentment and real happiness is the only worth while accomplishment.

Plans No. 1605 and 1606

If you are fond of individuality, distinctiveness and want your new home to be different, then this attractive home will appeal to you. The red brick used in the porch and terrace floor edging and in the chimney offers a pleasing contrast to the moss green roof and shutters and the white painted exterior. A careful study of the floor plans will reveal compactness and conveniences not usually found in homes so small, and one of the plans will no doubt care for the requirements you need in a home.
